ADVICE IS GIVEN IN CASE OF MEASLES

Health Officer Foulks Says
First Call a Doctor

FIRST SYMPTOM GIVEN

Sneezing, Coughing Child Danger to Every Other Child Within Five Feet
of It He Says

As there are quite a few cases of measles in various parts of our city, it might be well for me to say a few words regarding this very contagious disease of childhood, and one that is not entirely harmless, says Dr. Louis E. Foulks, City Health Officer.

This disease is caused by a germ so small that it passes through our finest porcelain filters, hence we cannot see it with our most powerful compound microscopes.

These germs are contained in the mouth and nose discharges of the patient, and can be conveyed to a distance of 4 or 5 feet by the droplets expelled during coughing or sneezing. Measles is the most highly infectious disease of childhood, and most every person, who has not had the disease, will contract it after exposure. The period of incubation after such exposure, is from 7 to 14 days. The first symptoms to be noticed are those of an ordinary "cold in the head," with sneezing, coughing, running at the nose and red eyes. There is more or less fever present a few hours after these signs begin. After 4 or 5 days of these symptoms, the eruption appears on the forehead and soon spreads over the body. This general skin eruption lasts from 4 to 6 days, as a rule, and is quickly followed by a fine scaling of the skin.

While measles, in a way, is a simple and rather mild form of disease, yet it often causes serious complications, such as pneumonia, kidney diseases, earache and running ears, especially in poorly nourished children. One attack of the disease renders the person immune for life.

In all cases of measles or suspected measles, the first thing to do is to call in a doctor. Prompt and careful treatment may not only save much trouble, but expense as well.

The most infectious period is when the symptoms of an ordinary "cold in the head" appear.

If your child has a "cold," keep it in the house and away from all other children. Don't let your children play with or visit another child who has a "cold in the head." It may be the first symptoms of measles. Any child with a so called cold, should be promptly excluded from school and kept under observation for a few days.

If parents and others were more particular about these matters, many cases could be prevented. Remember that a "cold in the head" is very often the first symptom of a more serious disease.

Don't let your children spread a disease to your neighbor's children, and by the same token, don't let your neighbor's children pass some disease over to yours!

The sneezing, coughing child is a danger to every other child that may come within 5 feet of it. Care and strict cleanliness is the thing to keep in mind. Don't fool with a "cold in the head," for it has teeth and its bite very often has serious results. Call in your doctor, it is cheapest in the end!

The buses will be along the same lines as those that are now in use by the Washington Rapid Transit Company and as soon as possible the first bus will be put in operation. The directors of the company are: L. D. Christie, W. M. Garman, Joseph Morrow, R. M. Much, L. S. Sheeds and C. W. Harris.

Domestic Arts

Ladies Y Will Start With Sewing
Class

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A., has decided to take up domestic arts for the young girls of Alexandria. This was decided at the regular monthly meeting of the Auxiliary held at the Chamber of Commerce last night. The decision was an outgrowth of the work being done for the youngsters of the city in an educational way with the free moving pictures which the Y. M. C. A., has been exhibiting for several weeks for the children.

The report of the social committee showed that hundreds of young girls were attending the pictures and it was felt by the ladies that more could be done for them if some branches of domestic art were undertaken. It was decided to begin with sewing classes first and a committee consisting of Mrs. Richard Acton, chairman; Miss Elizabeth Ramey, Mrs. W. S. Rison, Mrs. K. E. Wallace, and Mrs. C. E. Dare, was appointed to work out the details of the classes.

The auxiliary will undertake to finance the work for girls itself since the Y. M. C. A., will have its work for boys in the various troops of Pioneers and Comrades to look after. The treasurer's report last evening showed that the ladies had spent considerable money in the social work that they have been doing since their organization began last June. To keep their treasury in good shape they plan an oyster supper for the evening of March 10th at the Westminster Building, and other phases of domestic arts may be undertaken by them if conditions seem to warrant.

FERRY IS ASSURED SAY BUSINESS MEN

Propose to Operate Between
This and Maryland Side
Opposite City

MAY START IN SPRING

Would Open up Territory With Estimated Population of 2,000 to Alexandria Merchants.

Efforts on the part of the merchants of this city to operate a ferry between this city and what is known as Fox's Ferry on the Maryland side of the river it is believed will soon be effected.

The proposed ferry would open up a territory inhabited by almost 2,000 persons and would prove a valuable asset to the business interests of the city.

The proposition has been under consideration for some time past and it is now generally believed that the ferry will be started this spring. The proposed ferry would be capable of conveying at least six automobiles and also carry passengers.

The Maryland farmers would find a good market for their products and also could do their trading in Alexandria and incidentally save a great deal of time. The trip could be made in ten to fifteen minutes if it is thought.

Merchants here believe that with the extension of good roads in Maryland it would open up a greater territory than is now anticipated.

TALK ON CITY GAS

Name Committee to Investigate Condition of Army—K. W. Ogden Chosen Director From Bureau.

At a meeting of the Civic Bureau, of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce, held last night many matters of importance to our city were discussed.

Certain complaints against the telephone service were made and discussed and the matter will be handled with the telephone company with the request that they have a representative present at the next monthly meeting of this Bureau.

K. W. Ogden was elected a director of the Chamber from this Bureau for a term of two years.

Robert L. Middleton, Superintendent of Gas, made an interesting address regarding the gas plant and steps taken to overcome trouble with supply, etc. That it was their ambition to serve the public well and thought in a few weeks most of the trouble would be overcome.

Much pleasure was expressed by the members at having Mayor Duncan present after his recent illness. He stirred the meeting with a brief business like address, giving an outline of some matters being handled by him.

The matter of the condition of our sidewalks was generally discussed and the provisions of the charter of the city with reference to the keeping of sidewalks in good condition was brought up and the following Committee was appointed to investigate and handle the subject as the present condition of some of our sidewalks is a reproach on our city:

James Bayne, chairman, C. P. Waller, Jr., and A. D. Brockett.

The following committee was appointed to investigate the condition of the Army Building and ascertain what can be done to improve its condition:

P. Clinton Knight, chairman, Claude W. Fletcher, Capt. G. H. Evans.

G. O. P. Deficit Means Fight in Committee

New York, March 1.—Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican National Committee, went to Washington last night to prepare for the first meeting of the committee since the convention at Chicago. It will be held the day before the inauguration.

These matters will be discussed: Report of Chairman Hays on the work done by the committee in the campaign.

The question of raising the deficit in the campaign fund which is still over $1,000,000, and of the limit, if any, there shall be to individual subscriptions.

Report of progress of the special committee working out a new basis of representation in national conventions. Report of a special committee on a reorganization of the women's work, which will bring the women more close in touch with the party.

If not in open meeting at least in conference there is likely to be a strenuous struggle between the advocates of small contributions and those who would clean up the committee's debt as quickly as possible, even if it means the acceptance of large amounts just so long as the source is open to no question.

COMMUTERS' SIDE IN W-VA RATE CASE

Fare Boost Menace to Business and Financial Interests Says Capt. Evans

RAISE HOLDS UP DEAL

Example of Naval Torpedo Station Employees Cited—Views of D. R. Stansbury Are Given.

(Special to the Gazette)

Washington, D. C., March 1.—"Serious" damage will be caused to business and financial interests in Alexandria if new tariffs filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission by the Washington Virginia Railway Company become effective.

Capt. George H. Evans, business manager of the Chamber of Commerce of Alexandria told Examiner Mackley of the Commission today. The third day of the hearing on the tariffs was occupied by testimony given by commuters on the road, particularly those living in Alexandria.

Capt. Evans, who has been actively associated with business interests in Alexandria for several years, told the examiner there is now pending a real estate deal in Alexandria involving 45 lots and several thousand dollars, which is being held up waiting for the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission on the new tariffs.

Capt. Evans said the probable effect of the proposed increased rates would be to lessen travel and would probably result in many persons now living in Alexandria who work in Washington moving from Alexandria to a place nearer their place of business. He gave the case of the employees of the U. S. Naval torpedo plant, at least half of whom live in Washington and work in Alexandria, as a typical example. Probably a part of these employees, Capt. Evans said would seek transfer to a place of work nearer their homes if the rail rates were increased.

Commuters on the Washington-Virginia Railway were heard today by the commission, the road having closed its testimony with presentation of the case for the road Saturday by John F. Zimmerman, of the firm of Day and Zimmerman, present operators of the road. Day and Zimmerman took over the road after the former management had practically acknowledged its insolvency, it was testified.

Daniel R. Stansbury, president of the Mount Vernon Division Committee's Association, told Examiner Mackley that the present management cannot be wholly blamed for the present condition of the road. He said, however, that the present policy appears to be to get along with half the number of cars in service that were on the road several years ago. (Mr. Stansbury said a car left Alexandria for Washington this morning with 107 passengers on board, far too many for one car to carry.)

"I really believe a lower rate of fare would bring in more revenue to the road," Mr. Stansbury said, "I do not believe an increase in the present rate of fare would bring increased revenue but would have the effect of decreasing the number of passengers to such an extent that increased rates would not be reflected in increased revenue."

"My opinion," Mr. Stansbury said, "is that the projected new automobile bus line between Washington and Alexandria will materially reduce the revenues of the road."

Frederick E. Ballard, an attorney for the road, in cross examination of Mr. Stansbury brought out the point that the present 52 trip book between Alexandria and Washington costs $4.48. This is at the rate of eight and six-tenths cents a trip for a distance of about 8 miles, he said, or only a little more than a cent a mile. The new tariff increases the cost of the 52 trip book to $5.58. If the 52 trip book were charged for on a basis of 2 1/2 cents a mile it would cost in the neighborhood of nine dollars.

Against this point, Mr. Stansbury testified that frequently the whole of the 52 rides are sometimes not used and that satisfaction has not been obtained in requesting reparation from the road for rides not used.

Boy Pioneers

Second Troop Formed Last Night—
Limit Membership to 16

The second troop of "Pioneers" for the city of Alexandria, was organized at the Young People's building of the M. E. Church South last night with Milton Stonnell and Everett James in charge. Secretary Wallace, of the Y. M. C. A., was present and presented the "Pioneer" work to the boys and told of the plans for the coming season.

The new troop will be known as "Pioneer Troop Number One" and the boys are to select a name at the next meeting Monday evening, March 7. The boys were enthusiastic over the prospects of some real boys work in the city and will join with St. Paul's Troop No. 1 in developing the activities of the Pioneers. The summer camp in July appealed to them especially and they started their savings funds for the camp at once.

The leaders of the troop state that it will be limited to sixteen boys, but they will try to secure additional leadership as additional boys wish to join the troops. The Pioneers consist of boys twelve, thirteen and fourteen years old, an when the age of fifteen years is reached they then become "Comrades." No Comrades have as yet been organized in this city but Secretary Wallace states that as soon as leadership can be developed troops will be organized.

The members of the new troop are John Bluet, Louis Goodie, Burdge Carter, Howard James, Edwin Cockey, Charles Martin, Linwood Scruggs and Frank Spencer. The boys are all members of the M. E. South Sunday School, and the troop will be limited to members of this school and the meetings will be held weekly on Monday nights at the Young People's Building.

Boy, 2, Falls 50 Feet, Comes up Smiling

Baltimore, March 1.—After hanging for five minutes by the tips of his fingers yesterday afternoon from the sill of a window in the third floor, Geo. F. MacDonald, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. MacDonald, dropped fifty feet to a brick paved yard. Members of the household rushed to the spot a minute after George had fallen. They were amazed to see him get up smiling, as happy as if he had taken a pleasure jaunt in an airship.

Alaskan to Get $7,000 Per Day If He Wins Seat

Seven thousand dollars a day will be the salary drawn by James Wickersham if the House acts favorably today on his contest against the election of George B. Grigaby as delegate from Alaska.

A majority report of the Elections Committee No. 3, recommends that Wickersham be seated, and it is more than probable that the Republican House will uphold the committee, as Wickersham is the Republican candidate.

Debate on the case was begun yesterday afternoon and will be concluded today, when a vote will be taken.

If Wickersham is seated he will receive salary for two years, $15,000; mileage for three trips to and from Washington at $1,500 a trip, $4,500, and an allowance of $2,000 for expenses of his contest, making a total of $21,500.

For this amount he will be entitled to sit in the House, without a vote, for three days—Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

EAGLES RAID LIVE STOCK OF SHEPHERDSTOWN FARMER

Winchester, Va., March 1.—Ernest D. Jones, a Shepherdstown farmer, desires the services of an eagle-eyed sharpshooter to bring down once and for all a pair of bold bald eagles which have been making raids on lambs and fowl in that section. The eagles have carried off several lambs and many chickens, Mr. Jones said, and they are becoming bolder all the time. They can be seen daily, but are too clever, he says, to get within gunshot, hence his $100 S signal for a deadshot gunner to afford relief.

Against this point, Mr. Stansbury testified that frequently the whole of the 52 rides are sometimes not used and that satisfaction has not been obtained in requesting reparation from the road for rides not used.

MILITARY ACTIVITY ON PORTION OF RHINE

Artillery is Parked Several Miles Behind
Lines

FOCH BACK TODAY

Should Germans Decline Acceptance of Allies Reparations All is in Readiness to Execute Penalties.

Paris, March 1.—Great military activity was noted yesterday along that portion of the Rhine occupied by the French near the Mayence Bridgehead. The artillery, which had been parked several miles behind the line, was brought up, as was long lines of ammunition trucks, while the airplane camps at Bourget and Villacoublay began to show activity, commencing at noon yesterday. It is reported that the movement of Senegalese, Algerian and Moroccan troops arriving at Marseilles during the last few days has greatly increased.

Marshal Foch is expected to return to Paris from London tomorrow with General Weygand and proceed immediately to Mayence, there to await the decision of the London Conference. This decision, according to semi-official information, is not expected in Paris until Friday or Saturday.

Should the Germans formally decline to accept the Allied reparations demands everything is said to be in readiness to execute the penalties which were decided on by Premiers Lloyd George and Briand Sunday at Chequers Court.

The greatest secrecy is being maintained as to the nature of these penalties and concerning the military movements, but the Associated Press learns from a most authoritative source that a great naval demonstration by the British has been decided on at Kiel, Hamburg and Bremen, while the Belgian and French troops will operate on land.

The Ruhr region, it is said, probably will not be occupied, as the French desire to demonstrate that any movement taken by them is not directed against the German population, but against the reactionaries, nationalists and imperialists.

London, March 1.—For the first time since 1914 London today became the temporary abiding place of a small army of German officials, a German delegation of about sixty persons, including secretaries and general workers, coming here to discuss reparations, disarmament and the trial of war criminals with the Allies. The conference, which at the last minute was advanced, will open today in Lancaster House, a stately mansion within a stone's throw of Buckingham Palace and situated on the broad Mall.

The German Foreign Secretary, Dr. Simons, will be asked to give his views of the Paris decisions at the morning session and in the afternoon Premiers Lloyd George, Briand, Count Sforza, the Italian Foreign Minister, with Lord Curzon and the Belgian representatives, will consider the German statement. On Wednesday Mr. Lloyd George will reply to Dr. Simons.

According to last night's information as a result of the Chequers Court conference, where Lord d'Abernon, the British Ambassador to Germany, gave the Prime Minister the latest news on the situation in Germany, the Allies are in complete agreement and while willing to listen to the argument by Dr. Simons, will not grant any considerable concessions.

Berlin, March 1.—The German delegation will present a memorial to the Allied Powers in London tomorrow, explaining wherein it is impossible to meet the conditions framed at the Paris conference. The memorial will not include any counter-proposal. These proposals will be submitted soon after the conference is formally opened.

TO-DAY'S From the poetry of THOUGHT. Lord Byron they drew a system of ethics compounded of misanthropy and voluptuousness; a system in which the two great commandments were to hate your neighbor and to love your neighbor's wife.

Lord Macaulay.

New An interesting
Senator's article appears Wife. in one of the leading current magazines for women. It is written by the wife of a newly elected United States senator, and discloses much that it does not say. The lady takes herself very seriously.

She says: "Almost the first question asked about a man
holding public office is, naturally enough, 'well, what sort of man is he? And the next question nowadays
seems to follow, quite as naturally, 'What sort of wife has he?' Upon the satisfactory answer to that second question depends to an almost unbelievable degree the success of that man's future.
No woman in the country
has a greater opportunity
than the new senator's wife.

No woman shares a greater responsibility."

Fish!—fish!—and again,
alack-a-day, good lady!—
The voters of this country elect a man to office on his own merits and abilities.
Nor can he hide behind his wife's skirts, however ample their width or seductive the susurrous swishing of their silken folds. The people back home, whom you so patronizingly mention, will think more of you if you have some babies to tend; if you pay serious attention to the food upon which even a new senator must survive or perish; or, if you comfort and solace his hours of relaxation and bring the healing relief of woman's companionship amidst the worries and burdens of public office. In short, dear, if foolish, madame, if you will make a home for him, for yourself, and the kiddies that ought to come
as blessings—if you will do these things—the world will think far more of you and pay you greater tribute.

Among the important duties, it seems, which per-
plex a new senator's wife
and task her mental powers,
are the order and sequence
of calls. It seems, forsooth, that we have ranks, and circles, and classes, and stations
in our democratic capital, of which the great, unwashed multitude of the hoi polloi know nothing. There are high degrees and low degrees. There are diplomatic corps ladies, cabinet ladies, supreme court ladies, senatorial ladies, and mere congressional ladies. She says
there are forty ambassadors and ministers, ninety-six senators, and more than four hundred congressmen.

Nothing below these last creatures to count! She says she made over six hundred and fifty calls, spent over fifty dollars on visiting cards, and more on her taxicabs than her food! And she left the capital in June,
still owing many, many calls.
One of the jobs that the American people put over on an unsuspecting new senator's wife, according to her,
is that of knowing the proper order of precedence at functions. What feminine feuds, what heart-breaks,
what never-to-be-forgotten
hours of shame and sorrow have been caused because a congressman's wife got the first crack at the soup, ahead
of a senator's lawful spouse!
According to our female Peppys, she has known women, most delightful hostesses, too, who put off entertaining because they feared
they might blunder in placing their guests in order of their rank at table, and thereby be forever socially damned.

We, in our editorial ignorance, had in mind first to suggest that all be seated in order of age—but among women that would be worse than ever! So we content ourselves with saying that Congress, and we mean both branches, could simplify all this, by passing a law that at all functions in the capital guests should be seated in alphabetical order, according to their names. And where two names were identical the parties should, nay,
must, draw straws.

But enough!—As we said
at the outset, the lady dis-closes much that she does not say. The rather nauseating situation owes its institution primarily to the noxious system of bureaucracy that has grown up in Washington

within the past twenty years.

A certain Frenchman,
named Desmoulin, once wrote a book entitled "The Causes of Anglo-Saxon Superiority." In it he traces the inferiority of the French nation to the English, to nothing else than Bureaucracy. This poisonous institution should be exterminated and done away with, forever. The old Scottish ritual
in good King James's time,
contained this invocation:
"From witches, and war-locks, and wurricees, and evil spirits, and a' things that gang bump i' the night,
gude Lord, deliver us!" Add to this "and from new senators' wives", and we will cry
a hearty Amen!

GIRL BRIDE KILLED BY UNKNOWN MEN

Chicago, March 1.—One of the most brutal murders in the history of such crimes was discovered in a little four-room apartment in West Fourteenth street yesterday, when Mrs. Catherine Semenok, the 16-year-old bride of Teddy Semenok,

was found strangled. Her hands and feet were tightly bound with ropes and she had been garroted with a towel. The body was still warm when discovered.

Neighbors saw two men hastening from the house a few minutes before the murder. Mrs. Jeanette Wehr, who lives in the apartment
above the Semenoks, had gone to a nearby grocery. She had been commissioned by Mrs. Semenok to buy a few articles for her. When she returned she found the doors unlocked
and the girl bride lying face down on her bedroom floor. She commenced other neighbors and they found the strands of the towel deeply imbedded in the girl's throat.

Mrs. Semenok was married last November. Her parents live on a farm in Kentucky. Her husband had not been located up to a late hour yesterday evening. The murderers are described as foreigners who had been seen loitering about the neighborhood for two or three days. It is thought their motive was robbery.

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

During the month of February, the police court collected a total of $900 in fines.

Miss Eleanor Nugent, of this city, accompanied by her aunt, Mrs. Hopson, of Washington, has gone on a trip to relatives in Panama.

Miss Della Phillips has returned from a ten days visit to Major (Dan) N. Swan, U. S. A., and Mrs. Swan at Fort Monroe, Va.

The marriage is announced of Miss Katherine A. Talbot, of Boston, Va., and William N. Cradlin, of Rosmont. The ceremony was performed on February 9, in Winchester, Va.

A young white man who took a dose of poison was treated at the hospital last night and had sufficiently recovered today to leave that institution.

Sarepta Lodge No. 46, Odd Fellows, tomorrow night will confer the initiatory degree of the order upon a class of candidates and elect a representative to the Grand Lodge which will meet in Staunton, Va., next May.

Mrs. J. Edward Shinn, who has been ill at the Emergency Hospital, Washington, for several months, left that institution yesterday and now is at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. W. Talbot, 4525 Ninth street, north west, Washington.

SUICIDE AT SEA SHOCKS LINER'S PASSENGERS

New York, March 1.—"Have you ever seen a man jump overboard?" This question was addressed in a loud voice to a group of passengers aboard the steamship Carmania, arriving here yesterday, by a coal passer, who suddenly appeared among them when the ship was a day out of Queenstown.

Receiving astonished shakes of the head, the man leaped to the rail of the upper deck and dived, shouting: "Then here goes." Attempts to rescue failed.

Death List Grows

Total Killed Reaches 43, According to Latest Reports

Porter, Ind., March 1.—The last body last night was believed to have been removed from the debris of the wreck Sunday when a New York Central train cut in two at Michigan Central flyer at the intersection of the two lines here, but identification of the dead, still was progressing slowly.

The official list of the dead last night stood at 43, but little more than a score of these had been identified positively. Several other bodies were partly identified through elimination processes in pass and ticket lists of the trains. The county coroner, however, withheld official announcement of these names pending complete identification.

Coroner Seipel announced the following official tabulation:

Bodies in Chesterton morgue—Twenty-five to twenty-seven.

Bodies in Chesterton morgue—Eight.

Bodies in Michigan City—Two.

Total dead—Thirty-five to thirty-seven.

Coroner Seipel said that it might never be known exactly how many were killed because of the way in which some of the bodies were mangled.

The coroner said he did not think more dead would be found under the wreckage, but that this was possible. The morgue was closed for the night at 9 o'clock and no further identifications will be made until tomorrow.

Own Record

Jacksonville, March 1.—W. D. O'Connell, who was arrested for a record time of 22 hours and 22 minutes from the Pacific to the Atlantic Ocean will leave at midnight March 7 on a return flight to San Diego, Cal., in an attempt to lower his own record, he stated here yesterday. He intends to make one stop at Dallas, Texas.

INSANITY TO BE PLEA OF BOY BOND THIEF

Chicago, March 1.—Willie Dalton, the 16 year old boy who stole $772,000 from the Northern Trust Company, was indicted yesterday afternoon by the grand jury, the true bill charging him with larceny and embezzlement. If convicted the maximum punishment will be one to ten years in the State Reformatory at Pontiac.

Young Dalton does not seem worried by his prospects. He yawned lazily in his cell yesterday and informed reporters that his attorney had ordered him to refrain from talking to the press. His lawyer is George H. Guenther, who defended Carl Wanderer for the murder of his wife and baby.

Dalton insisted upon emphasizing one point—that Judge Landis' recent statement, regarding poorly paid bank employees had nothing to do with influencing him to commit the big theft. "I'm the only one to blame," he said. "Everybody seems anxious to get Judge Landis into this, but what he said had no influence on me."

Attorney Guenther announced his line of defense by the statement that he would have Dalton examined at once by Dr. Hickson, at the Psychopathic Laboratory. "All the features of this crime," said Attorney Guenther, "point to mental deficiency on the part of this boy."

Dalton looked deficient in nothing but his liberty as he lay back on a cot in the police cell, with a leg sticking in the air and his hands under his head, smoking numerous cigarettes. His only complaint was that the prison fare was not up to his standard.

"The bank people were mighty kind to me," he said. "They were very kind and helped me a lot. I can see that now. I did not take the bonds through any feeling of resentment or that I was under paid."

Reverting to the row that has developed over the reward for his capture, Dalton said:

"It's pretty thick on James Dennis. He was the one who really got wise to me and tipped me off to Draper."

Dennis is the man who picked him up on the road and drove him into Heyworth. He has served summons on the National Bank of Heyworth, where Paul Draper has deposited the $26,000 reward, saying he is entitled to it and will fight for the reward. There are others who figure they are entitled to a share in the reward and various attorney's are said to be urging them to start a contest, and a bitter and costly fight is in sight.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS

A CORNERSTONE OF GOVERNMENT

Dr. D. H. Martin, pastor of Trinity M. E. Church, presided Sunday night on "Way the Republic Loves" or "The Four Cornerstones of the Nation."

"He gave the public schools as one of the cornerstones and said 'Education is the Salvation of Our People. Relatively we are the best educated people on earth. We survived the war because of education, Christian education and the resultant Americanism of which we are proud, proud to be a bulwark against which not only the Hun, but the tempest of ignorance, greed, anarchy and sedition here in our midst beat in vain.'"

The public school may be called the great university of America. The public school is our distinguishing feature as a nation. It is that great part of our educational system that the masses of our people depend upon for education. It is therefore essential that we make it as ideal as possible. It should be absolutely free from sectarian, political social, or any other harmful influence or domination. We say to all partisans and selfish influences, 'keep your hands off the public schools.' The teachers of public schools should be not only people with the essential mental equipment, but persons of Christian character for the reason that no individual is in so good a position to mould the young life. Often it is possible for the teacher to do more toward shaping the character of the child than even the child's mother, many children who attend the public schools of America, never go to a church or Sunday school, and never receive from their own parents any uplifting influence, and if the public school does not do something for such children morally and religiously, as well as mentally, then they will simply 'go to the devil' as a child and God, say a world made up of such people? This is the reason why the public school is the most important institution in America and there not simply to be read, but studied by the pupils under the direction of a teacher the same as any other textbook is taught and studied. The Bible should be in the public school for the sake of the moral and religious life of our boys and girls.

Another thing about our public schools we have believed, and since the war it has become even a stronger conviction than before, and that it, the greatness and glory of America, and not the superiority of some other nation, should be emphasized before our children. There should be a larger place in the school room for the teaching of Americanism. Let us have the pictures of our great national leaders.

Fitzgerald Council, K. of C. will play the Dreadnaughts, a game of basketball, in Armory Hall on Thursday at 8:30 p. m. This engagement is a championship affair and according to reports Manager Wheatley is drafting the stars of the K. of C. league in Washington to make his line up the strongest aggregation the Dreadnaughts have faced this season. The "D's" are practicing for the game and from indications will be in form and a sensational contest is promised local fans.

The Dreadnaughts are working hard on their base ball season, and are securing some excellent talent. A convenient location has been secured to stage their engagements and the erection of a grand stand will be in progress in a few days. Wednesday a meeting will be held in the Dreadnaught Hall to complete plans for the season and those interested in the sport and the club will be present. IN MEMORIAM

A tribute of love to the memory of my dear mother, LAURA HUGHES, who departed this life five years ago yesterday, February 29, 1916.

In this world of sorrow
Where friends are very few,
Mother, my darling mother,
My heart longs for you.
She traveled the journey before us,
She has known all the cost of the way,
She paid out the price to the fullness
That only a mother can pay.
Forget you, forget you, how can it be,
My darling mother God took from me,
I think of you mother, day by day,
And the loving things you used to say.

By her devoted daughters,
Mrs. Jennie Miller,

Classified Columns You Court Health Through Proper Diet.

Everybody knows that what one eats plays a very important part in health-promoting or retarding it, according as to whether the diet is nourishing, or lacking in the maximum essentials.

Bread, of course, is the fundamental item of nutrition; but you must choose Bread with discrimination—if you would get the best. Look into the standard of the ingredients used—and into the method of making—they both count for much.

Investigation will form one conclusion—that in CORBY BREAD you get the UTMOST of FOOD QUALITY. That is in the nutrients and in the RIGHTLY BALANCED PROPORTION—and of ABSOLUTE PURITY.

There is nothing taken for granted in making CORBY BREAD. Every ingredient must measure up to our laboratory's requirements. Each mixing is progressed with the patented process which alone is capable of developing ALL the gluten content of the flour—and without it no bread can be 100 per cent.

Lenten Lectures At St. Paul's Church

The "Gospel according to St. Matthew" will be the subject of the lecture tomorrow, Wednesday night, at St. Paul's Church, being the second of the series by Rev. Wallace E. Rollins, D. D. Those who heard the first lecture, on the Gospel of St. Mark, were entertained and instructed in a rare degree. The scholarship and genuine learning that is displayed in Dr. Rollins' discourses charm as well as enlighten. Irrespective of sect or creed these lectures should be heard by everyone. A synopsis of tomorrow's lecture is given below. Similar synopses will precede each of the remaining lectures in the course.

1. A sketch of the life and character of Matthew the Apostle.
2. A history and analysis of the book written by him in the Aramaic language called "The Logia or the Sayings of Jesus."
3. The historical situation in 30-40 A. D. which called forth the Gospel which is now known as "The Gospel according to St. Matthew."
4. The sources of the Gospel.
 - (a) The Logia or sayings of Jesus written originally in the Aramaic language by the Apostle Matthew.
 - (b) The Gospel according to St. Mark.
 - (c) A small book of Old Testament quotations showing that Christ fulfilled the Prophets.
 - (d) Information gotten from the Apostles from oral tradition.
5. The Unknown Edition of our present Gospel according to St. Matthew. What can we learn about him from his book.
6. Some of the chief characteristics of the Gospel according to St. Matthew.
 - (a) It was written for Jewish Christians. How this is proven.
 - (b) It pictures Christ as the Messianic King fulfilling Old Testament Prophecy.
 - (c) It is the Gospel of the Kingdom. This is shown by a brief analysis of the Gospel.
 - (d) It is the Gospel of the discourses of Jesus rather than the deeds.

Clark's Condition

Washington, March 1.—The condition of Champ Clark, Democratic leader of the House, who has been ill for 10 days, was described as critical in reports received from his bedside last night. Fears were expressed by his colleagues, who had been informed of his condition, that he might not live through the night.

Physicians attending the former speaker stated early in the evening that a turn for the worse had developed and as the evening drew on Mr. Clark's condition was described as growing more critical, with the crisis expected before tomorrow morning. Mrs. Clark, Bennett Clark, a son, and Mrs. James M. Thompson, of New Orleans, a daughter, were at the bedside during the entire evening.

Big Cuts in Railroad Rate Made For Summer Trips

Chicago, March 1.—Time is approaching when a traveler will be able to buy a railroad ticket to any ordinary destination without mortgaging his farm.

The roads are planning to revive the great vacation travel that was interrupted by the world war. Summer rates were announced yesterday by practically every road operating West and reaching Yellowstone Park and other points. Reductions average 20 and 25 per cent on the regular rates. The travelers may start at any time between July 1 and September 30.

Attractive rates are also announced for the "week-enders" who desire to visit the Wisconsin and Michigan fishing resorts.

The story of a strong man's fight for love.

An Associated Producers Production

Out of the wreck emerged a love greater than self—big enough to conquer fate and man for the respect of the one woman.

An evil man and a good woman battled for the soul of a man in doubt. Who won?

He tried to fool her once—and succeeded. The second time he fooled only himself, for the woman saw beneath his mask.

Billy Newlands was a gambler; he took "a thousand to one" chance—would you?

They were playing for high stakes—when the police crashed through. But "Square Billy" Newlands fought their way to safety for them even as he himself battled to the safety of self-respect and love.
